

Oro, a bit of gold, a bit of bronze, and all magnificent metallic, is ready to add shimmer, shine and an edge to design.

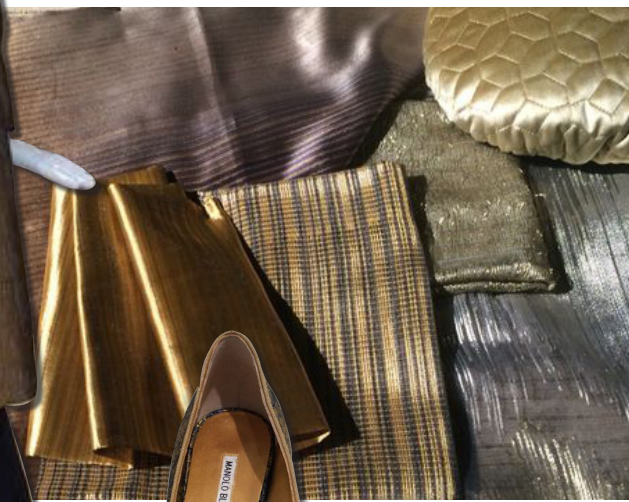

In fashion, it is appearing on the runways from coats to shoes, and everything in between. Whether it is a bit of metal, gleaming at your feet, or wrapping yourself in a textile woven with metallic threads, it is definitely a time to shimmer. Beyond the runways, Oro adds warmth and a soft glow to home, and emphasizes the continuing direction of gold metallic finishes. It will be combined with teal, red, and violet, and layered with olive green to create a new, multi-dimensional, monochromatic aesthetic.

The relatively subtle nature of the hue keeps it from being brash and loud. Instead, it speaks quietly, with a bit of a wink, and a smile, that this metal look is different. It is fresh, and modern, and is comfortable playing the star, or a supporting role.

NIKA ZUPANC
AT ROSSANA
ORLANDI

DRIES VAN NOTEN
AT NEIMAN
MARCUS

HEIMTEXTIL FRANKFURT

MANOLO BLAHNIK

BENTLEY

Glistening
Gleaming
Golden
Glam

FURLA